HEARST, HYLAN, EVEN HIRSHFIELD, SILENT ON SMITH

HEARST AND HYLAN SILENT, EVEN HIRSHFIELD ALSO, ON NOMINATION OF AL SMITH

Nothing to Say To-Day, Says Mayor Cheerfully at City Hall.

FIRST TRIES TO DODGE.

With Convention Over, Delegates Ask, "What Will Editor Do?"

Mayor Hylan proved himself a very good actor to-day. Although bitterly disappointed over the smashing of his idol, Hearst, at Syracuse yesterday, the Mayor cheerfully greeted reporters on the steps of City Hall at nine o'clock this morning. He was accompanied by his secretary and son in law, John F. Sinnott.

Seeing his would-be interviewers waiting for him in the corridor, the Mayor playfully ducked behind a pillar. Suddenly emerging, he said he didn't think anyone could avoid the press and joined his questioners.

"Before you proceed with any questions," said the Mayor, "I want it understood that I will have nothing to say to-day."

Further efforts to get an expression of opinion of any kind from the Mayor failed.

No statement has been issued by Commissioner of Accounts David Hirschfeld, although he returned with the city delegation last night.

Hearst had made no statement on the Democratic ticket up to noon to-day.

Dr. Royal S. Copeland, Health Commissioner, who was nominated for United States Senator, was apparently taken entirely by surprise.

At his country home at Suffern, he said to-day he did not know whether or not he would accept but he did not indicate an inclination to turn it aside.

"When a man has been nominated for an office which has been entirely outside his wildest dreams of his future," he said, "he must have some time in which to consider saying anything formally about it. Right now, I can only express my thanks to the delegates and also my friends who are keeping my telephone busy with congratulations."

"I should really be sorry to leave the Health Department, where my work has been happy, and I have always been confident of the loyal backing of the public, the Mayor and the

WHY SMITH TURNED DOWN ALL EFFORTS TO FORCE HEARST

"That Fellow Nearly Murdered My Mother," He Told Emissaries.

When the Hearst emissaries went to former Gov. Al Smith yesterday to ask him why he couldn't let by-gones be by-gones, as the editor was willing to do, Al replied, terms willing in his eyes:

"That fellow nearly murdered my mother. Into his mind came recollection of his aged mother ill in bed in Brooklyn with the Governor of the State of New York pacing the floor and praying that Providence would spare her to him."

"Hearst said I killed the babies of New York by allowing impure milk to come into New York City—me, the father of six children. And he knows it was a damnable lie. Remember those pictures of the forlorn-looking children and the poverty-stricken mothers? God!"

TEXT OF PLANK ON WINE AND BEER

Democrats Declare for Volstead Act Modification.

SYRACUSE, Sept. 30.—Following is the plank in the Democratic platform favoring light wines and beers:

Recognizing that the interpretation of the Eighteenth Amendment to the Federal Constitution expressed in the Volstead act has resulted in widespread contempt and violation of the law, in illegal traffic in liquors and in official corruption, we insist upon Congress enacting such modification of the Volstead act as shall legalize, subject to the approval of the State of New York, the use of beer and light wines under such careful restrictions as were imposed by the law passed in New York in 1920.

An Opportunity for A Business Education Is Offered In World Ads.

The number of those who through the knowledge of stenography have risen to positions of prominence and responsibility is many. Among them might be mentioned Charles Dickens, the great novelist and reformer; George B. Cortelyou, Secretary of the Treasury in President Roosevelt's Cabinet and Edward Bok, former Editor of the Ladies Home Journal. The editor and proprietor of one of Boston's great newspapers at one time held a secretarial position on a New York newspaper. A good stenographer has unusual advantages to succeed for he comes in contact with the best minds and thought of every institution and if equipped with natural ability, education and initiative, learns how to fill the executive positions. The Sunday World "Educational" advertisements mention many schools and institutions where through a course of study in stenography and other subjects men and women are prepared for positions of trust and responsibility.

TURK TROOPS RAID VILLAGE IN THRACE, SLAY 11, IS REPORT

In Later Fight Greeks Say They Killed 25 Moslem Soldiers.

CONSTANTINE TO EXILE

Sailed To-Day for Palermo With Queen and Will Make Home in Italy.

PARIS, Sept. 30.—A communiqué from General Polymenacos, commander-in-chief of the Greek army in Thrace, was received to-day from Athens by the Greek legation here. It said:

"Turkish troops penetrated the neutral zone, occupying the village of Safalan, Thrace, where they killed 11 inhabitants. The Greek forces shortly after made an attack and killed 25 Turkish soldiers and one officer. The Greek losses were one killed and one wounded."

The Turks were under the command of an officer, named Redjes, who arrived in Constantinople ten days ago.

ATHENS, Sept. 30 (United Press).—English and Greek shops in Constantinople are being pillaged by the Turks in Sporadic outbreaks, according to reports received here to-day. It was also reported that irregular Kemalist cavalry had occupied Lampasakos, on the Straits.

ATHENS, Sept. 30 (Associated Press).—King Constantine, Queen Sophie and Prince Nicholas sailed to-day for Palermo, Sicily, on board a Greek steamer, on which they embarked at Oropus, placed at the disposal of the fallen monarch by the revolutionary committee. The departure was without ceremony.

SITUATION CRITICAL, CLASH MAY OCCUR AT ANY MOMENT

Peace Overtures Exhausted. Slight Spark May Set Conflagration.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 30 (Associated Press).—The situation is regarded here as exceedingly critical. Gen. Harington seems to have exhausted his peaceful overtures, and many fear that military action will follow.

A rupture between the opposing forces, it is thought in military quarters, is likely to be precipitated at any

COCKTAIL WEDDING HAS MORNING AFTER

Rapid Romance Has Sequel in Marital Court.

"Sure, I'll take a chance," Joseph Rosenberg of Rosenberg Bros., No. 507 Fifth Avenue, quotes himself as saying on Feb. 25 last in Bermuda. Then, he declares, Gertrude Wasserman proposed marriage twenty-four hours after they had met over a bottle of cocktails. The marriage took place in this city on March 6.

To-day Rosenberg filed his reply to his wife's suit for a separation. She says "Joe" fell in love with her first at first sight—and now she keeps away from their home because of fear of violence on his part. Discard followed, she said, when she slighted her sister-in-law, who, she says, has "radical tendencies."

Justice Wasservogel denied her application for alimony and counsel fees.

STRANGER SOUGHT AS MISSING LINK IN HALL MURDER

Suspect, Who Spied On Loving Couples in Park, Had Bullet in Leg.

GIRL EXAMINED AGAIN.

Prosecutors "Get After" Charlotte Mills Who Appealed to Governor.

(Special From a Staff Correspondent of The Evening World.)

NEW BRUNSWICK, Sept. 30.—Authorities investigating the murders of the Rev. E. W. Hall and Mrs. Eleanor Mills admitted to-day there was one phase of their inquiry which is persistently throwing doubt upon their general understanding of the motive and the manner of the crime.

For a week detectives have been trying to find a ne'er-do-well Polish tramp of weak mentality who is reported to have applied to a hospital here for a bullet wound in his leg about two weeks ago—the bodies of Mr. Hall and Mrs. Mills were discovered under a crab apple tree on the Phillips farm just two weeks ago to-day.

The man sought has been arrested on a charge of being dangerously irrational at least twice and has been let go as harmless. He was a night prowler in Buccleuch Park, where the Rev. Mr. Hall often met Mrs. Mills and was fond of telling stories of his adventures as a spy upon couples who sought seclusion there.

The detectives have in trace of him. They do not know if he is hiding or has left town for some reason not connected with the Hall-Mills murder or if he is lying sick in the home of friends of his own race.

"It would be wrong to say we suspect this man of the murder, but until we find him there is still a possibility that all the indications revealed by our other work may lead to a false conclusion."

It was admitted at the Court House to-day that the letters in the hand-

OHIO WOMAN PONZI IN $300,000 SCHEME

Say She Promised Neighbors 10 P. C. on Loans.

POMEROY, O., Sept. 30.—Mrs. Susan Kraus and her husband, George Kraus, a former miner, were in the County Jail here to-day on charges of embezzlement, and with their arrest, officials say, will be uncovered the fabrication of a financial scheme that will rival that of Ponzi, the Boston "wizard," who promised big returns for the use of money.

The Kraus couple were arrested on an affidavit signed by A. W. Lee, acting as agent for Bertha Seyfried, who listed a loss of $4,000.

Holding out a return of 10 per cent., Mrs. Kraus, it is charged, has borrowed in excess of $200,000 from Ponzi persons, giving them promissory notes. According to Lee, Miss Seyfried and a sister loaned the woman $29,000.

POULIN NOT FATHER OF TIERNAN CHILD COURT DECIDES

Judge Scores Wife of Professor and Defendant in Case.

MRS. TIERNAN FAINTS.

Her Husband Takes Action for Separation Following Decision.

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Sept. 30.—Harry Poulin, local haberdasher, charged by Mrs. Augusta Tiernan with being the father of her third child, was found not guilty in City Court here to-day.

Mrs. Tiernan fainted on hearing the verdict. She was carried out, placed in a taxicab and driven home.

Judge C. L. Ducomb made it plain in his comment that he found the defendant "not guilty" in the strict sense of the word. He said that he believed there had been intimate relations between Mrs. Tiernan and Poulin. The fact, however, that Prof. Tiernan had lived with his wife throughout the entire affair created the reasonable doubt that made it legally compulsory to find for the defendant.

The court held that Tiernan failed to prove that he could not have been the father of the baby.

Prof. and Mrs. Tiernan will not become reconciled according to plans announced by the professor following the decision.

The beginning of a movement for a permanent separation will take place late to-day or to-morrow when Prof. Tiernan will take his wife and three children to Bonson, Mich., where Mrs. Tiernan will make her home with her mother until she decides upon her future. That Mrs. Tiernan is being allowed by Prof. Tiernan to take the three children with her is due, he said, to his sympathy for his wife. Later it is understood that the children will be placed in a school.

"I believe," he said, "that had we disclosed the affairs of our household as they really have been during the last year, a different verdict would have been reached."

"We have been in a living hell," he said, "but this fact we withheld from the court and public."

Harry Poulin was brief in his statement. "Just what I expected," he said. He would make no other comment.

Mrs. Poulin, in a highly nervous state, was unable to make a statement.

Prosecutor Floyd Jellison and Prof. Tiernan announced after Judge Ducomb had rendered his opinion that the case would be appealed and carried to the Supreme Court of the United States if necessary.

"The decision was a great surprise to me," declared Prof. Tiernan. "It swept me completely off my feet."

"The testimony," the judge said in his rulings, "has been of the most sensational character and has shocked the morals of the court as well as the entire country, and I regret this incident of my life that it became my painful duty and that I was

Boy Scout Anthony Pantar, twelve years old, was awakened in his room in the tenement at No. 128 Hudson Street at 2:30 o'clock this morning by his woolly white general terrier pup. "He ain't got no name yet," says Tony, "because until to-day I didn't know what kind of a dog he was; but I know now he's no mutt."

The pup pulled the bedclothes from Tony went to the window. From the side of the house next door, No. 42 Beach Street, puffs of smoke tinged with red were pouring.

Scout Pantar yelled long and loud until he was answered by the voices of all his family. Warning them to get out as quick as they could, Tony gathered up the pup and ran to the Beach Street Police Station and put the woolly dog on the desk in front of an astonished lieutenant.

"Say," Tony commanded, "take care of this dog until I come back for him, please. He's saved my life and I want to take care of him. I've got to

MANY TRAPPED BY FLAMES SAVED BY DARING RESCUES; POLICE SUSPECT FIREBUG

Two Leap From Windows to Death When Escape Is Cut Off—Attempt to Set Fire to Adjoining Building Also Made, but is Discovered in Time.

Seven lives were lost in a fire in an apartment house at No. 241 West 109th Street at a little before 1 o'clock this morning, and five persons were seriously injured.

Fire Marshal Brophy and the detectives of the West 109th Street Station are working on a report that the fire was started by a pyromaniac who had tried to start fires in other buildings. The fatal conflagration was started by kindling flames in baby carriages left in the ground floor hall.

The Fire Department has also started an investigation to find what justice there is in criticism of the work of the firemen for tardiness in answering the alarm and slow work after their arrival. It is reported that the only light—in spite of the boasted equipment of the department in searchlight apparatus—by which the terror-stricken tenants could find their way down the fire escapes was furnished by a taxicab driver who had the wit to turn the headlights of his cab on the burning building.

Ten minutes before the blaze was discovered Henry Denn, who lives on the ground floor at No. 245, adjoining, heard a noise in the hall of his home. He opened his door and saw a baby carriage in the hall and the stairways aflame. Calling his daughters, Evelyn and Florence, they threw pails of water on the fire until it was extinguished.

Immediately afterward, Denn told Fire Marshal Brophy, a roughly dressed man, apparently a foreigner, opened the basement door and, walking in, carefully inspected the charred carriage and steps. Denn demanded to know what he was looking for and he explained he had smelled smoke and quickly left. Before the Dennes could retire the building next door was burning and the street outside was in an uproar.

William Mandelbaum, No. 1326 Southern Boulevard, Bronx, saw smoke coming out the vestibule door of No. 241 and tried to get in, but the flames leaped out and he hastily slammed the door and ran for the nearest fire box.

Back in a few seconds, he was the first in the rescue work. He went up the front fire escape, smashing windows as he ascended to the top floor. On each of three trips he brought down some one.

Crowds of residents of the block, many in night attire, were in the street before firemen arrived. Chaffeurs and mechanics from the Buena Vista Garage across the street, and several pedestrians who were passing, saved many lives by dashing through the hallways to arouse the sleeping members of the twenty-four families, aiding or carrying them to safety.

WHOLE BUILDING ABLAZE IN FEW MINUTES.

Within a few minutes the building appeared to be burning from top to bottom, and some of the fire escapes were almost red hot. The rescue work was difficult because the street is not well lighted. There was not much improvement when firemen arrived because they carried no searchlights.

Automobiles, to meet the emergency, were driven to the curb and to a lot in the rear, and turned their lights on the building.

Harry White, a tenant on the third floor, ran to the fifth floor and found there Mrs. Wilbur Penn, who was overcome by smoke. He brought her to the street, where her condition was found to be serious. Her son, Wilbur Jr., missing his mother, struggled through the smoke which now completely enveloped the fifth floor and

After passing through the most violent storm he ever had encountered in the forty-two years he has been a mariner, during which hundreds of passengers were forced to desert their staterooms for thirty hours and scores donned life preservers, Sir James T. W. Charles brought the big Cunarder Aquitania to port to-day with 2,706 passengers sighing relief at the sight of land.

From 6 o'clock Sunday evening until midnight Monday, the gigantic liner cut through seas that swamped it deck fifty-five feet above the water line, at four knots an hour as against the usual 7½ knots made by the big ship on normal seas. One passenger, a millionaire who occupied the most expensive suite on the ship, declared the waves weren't waves at all—they were a section of the Rocky Mountains.

The condition of the big liner as she came into port a full day late
